"Dad," said the young medical graduate, "in your two weeks' absence I managed to cure Mrs. Goldenby of her indigestion."
"My boy," said the old doctor, "I'm proud of you, of course, but Mrs. Goldenby's indigestion was what put you through college."

Chesterfield gives this record for the yeomanry of Chesterfield county to compete with: Mr. Archie Douglass has for forty years, so he claims, heard his old reliable clock strike the hours of nine and three each night. We give fair notice that when Tucker, of Pageland, tries to beat this record that we are going to spring Press Swinnie, who habitually goes on less sleep than the great Edison.

We are glad to report that Mr. Wm. Pitts, Chesterfield's oldest citizen, is rapidly improving after a severe illness. Mr. Pitts, though, 96 was hearty up to this illness. He is one of our best citizens, and, as is typical of Chesterfield citizens, has lived within a mile of where he was born. Our county is unsurpassed in the State by reason of the fact that our people live at home and are proud of their county.

Are you in favor of voting $50,000 for bonds for waterworks and sewerage? This will give Chesterfield a first-class system. The Cheraw system cost $85,000, but Chesterfield's natural drainage and other good points make a simpler engineering proposition. Begin now to talk the matter over, as in a few days a meeting of the voters will be held to decide what action is to be taken. A little more tax money may save this town a serious epidemic of typhoid fever or some other contagious disease. The convenience and comfort alone are worth more to the inhabitants of this town than the extra taxes will amount to. And as for cleanliness, it is hard to speak of cleanliness and the cost at the same time. No town of this size can be clean and sanitary without waterworks. We will not mention fire protection at this time.

Sixteen-cent cotton is having a marked effect on the business in Chesterfield. Trading is brisk and the merchants are busy. The supplies offered by Chesterfield merchants are first-class in every particular and we venture the assertion that more goods can be bought for the same money at Chesterfield than in any other town of its size in the State.

The County Fair Association is considering a proposition of enlarging their grounds and taking in the cotton warehouse. Owing to 16-cent cotton, the warehouse is empty and would make an ideal building for fair exhibit purposes. It is understood that the owners of the warehouse have agreed to rent same to the Fair Association and that their offer will probably be accepted.
